

Rebecca Lozman, DNP, CPNP, MPH

Rebecca Lozman, DNP, CPNP, MPH joined the pediatric care team at Newport Health Center and New London Hospital in 2012. Prior to moving to New Hampshire, she worked in Baltimore as a pediatric nurse practitioner for almost 4 years in a private pediatric practice. Rebecca enjoys adolescent healthcare and is thrilled to be working at the first and only school-based health center in New Hampshire. In addition, Rebecca is Director of the Fit-For-Life program (see Fit for Life tab for more information). Rebecca sees patient at Tiger Treatment Center Monday-Wednesday, and Friday. Rebecca is also at Newport Health Center, seeing patients from birth until age 21. Once a week she sees patients at New London Pediatrics.

Cecilia Vicuna-Keady, ARNP, FNP, DNP

Cecilia Vicuna-Keady, ARNP, FNP, DNP, joined the primary care team at NHC in 2009 and sees students and faculty at the center on Thursday's from 8am-10am. Keady brings a wealth of energy and expertise to the program. She has served as a Family Nurse Practitioner in rural and urban communities in New England for more than a decade. Between 2000 and 2002 she directed one of the first SBHC in Worcester, Massachusetts, where she worked with underserved, multi-lingual, inner-city adolescents. She has been recognized nationally for her work in pediatric asthma management, and serves as adjunct faculty at Dartmouth Medical School. She sees patients at Newport Health Center Monday through Thursday.